The marriage of Miss Edna Morrow and Mr. Richard T. Hargreaves, which will take place this evening at six o'clock, is of interest to many people in Topeka which both Miss Morrow and Mr. Hargreaves have called their home for the most of their lives and where they have many genuine friends and admirers. Miss Morrow is a daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. O. S. Morrow. She is a graduate of the Topeka of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. O. S. Morrow. She is a graduate of the Topeka high school, and of Washburn college, where she was a member of the Sigma Delta Psi sorority. Since she left college she has been teaching English in the high school and has spent part of her vacations studying at the Radcliffe summer school. Mr. Hargreaves' parents are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Hargreaves of 1615 Harrison street. He also began his education in Topeka, was graduated from the high school and afterwards from the University of Kansas at Lawrence where he was elected to the honorary fraternity, Phi Beta Kappa for distinguished scholarship, in his senior year. Afterwards he taught Latin in the Topeka and Lawrence high schools and he is now with the Allen and Bacon book publishing company of Chicago with headquarters at Spokane, Washington. Dr. Morrow will perform his daughter's marriage ceremony which will take place at his house, 1110 Throop street, and about twenty guests will be present. There will be no music, no bridesmaids or other fussiness. The house will be decorated with golden glow and greenery and Miss Morrow will wear a white lingerie gown, princess model with an embroidered front panel and cluny lace yoke. She will receive the guests herself and the ceremony will be exceedingly simple, Her traveling costume is of dark blue She is a graduate of the Topeka ceremony will be exceedingly simple. Her traveling costume is of dark blue rajah-pansma cloth, a tallored two piece suit, with gloves and hat of the same color. They will leave this even-ing for Denver where they will visit the bride's sister, Mrs. L. P. Terhune, until Friday when they will go on west, stopping at Salt Lake City, Portland and Seattle and will take a boat at Seattle for Alaska. At home in Spekane after September 15.

It is amusing to hear a man tell why he has never married and note his sublime unconsciousness of the real reason which is that no smart woman ever made up her mind to go after

Miss Heien Hackney of Atchison is expected Thursday to visit Miss Mary MacLennan at Cedarcrest until Mon-day. Next week she will share her time with Miss Henrietta Alexander. When Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Stotts announced that they had named their baby, born a week ago, William Jennings Bryan, all their neighbors and friends and kin who couldn't take a joke, raised a storm of protest and indignation and sent deputations to remonstrate with them. The case even monstrate with them. The case even attracted some newspaper attention: there was an editorial in one Topeka newspaper and a paragraph in another newspaper and a paragraph in another devoted to the wrongs of children afflicted by the names of Great Men. Mr. and Mrs. Stotts have now selected their son's real name, and if it is satisfactory to everybody he will be called Eugene Bristol. Mrs. Stotts was before her marriage Miss Louise Bristol of Anthony.

It's a happy marriage if the wife really has her husband bluffed and the husband really has his wife fooled.

Mr. John Clugston gave a dinner for ten young men at the Country club Saturday night for his cousin, Mr. Kenneth Byrne and Mr. George both of Kansas City.

They were dancing together, the serious young woman in love with her Art, a musical high-brow, and the village-cut-up who can make a cheerful noise around the piano of an evening and knows all the popular trashy sones. Said the musical high-brow. songs. Said the musical high-brow, thinking to flatter his notion that he is a vocalist, and to make conversa-tion: "Don't you know any new songs?" "Oh. yes," replied the vil-lage-cut-up. "Have you heard that new pathetic ballade "Father's Ribs Are Floatin' Toward the Shore?" "How odd!" exclaimed the M. H. B... whose education has been limited to arias and things. "I never heard of it! That's stranger title than Had a Horse a Finer No One Ever Saw. Horse a Finer No One Ever Saw. I always thought that was the most unfortunate title. But the song's been very popular." "Oh this one is, too," the V. C. U. assured her. "And there's another, 'She Looks Like Heck But She's Good to Her Folks." "Why, the Idea!" ejaculated the M. H. B. and she stopped dancing in the middle of the floor. "Here do write those names on my programme. I'm going to send for my programme. I'm going to send for them right away."

Miss Margaret Garvey entertained the following guests, members of her bridge club, this morning at a bridge party for Miss Gertrude Mulvane: Miss Mulvane, Miss Nadine Lytle, Miss Mary Sutherland, Mrs. Ward Spielman, Mrs. Carl Trapp, Miss Helen Haughey, Mrs. Carl Trapp, Miss Heiel Haughey,
